

BENEFITS OF APCC membership

The APCC takes its Members beyond a single jurisdictional approach, providing access to an Australasian collective of leaders in the four discipline areas to generate innovative solutions. APCC membership provides both financial and non-financial benefits.

We embrace the full spectrum of policy, including implementation of policy and operations across our four disciplines.

For agencies, being part of an exclusive public sector collaborative delivers significant savings and efficiencies in spend, time and effort through development of best practice, and sharing of approaches, documents and materials. Therefore, Members:

- avoid duplication in effort and resources
- leverage the expertise and experience within the membership
- access innovative business solutions, strategies, materials and tools
- participate in opportunities to buy and build better
- have the opportunity to compare and improve.

We deliver savings for our Members by leveraging experience, collaborating and reducing the procurement cost to build and buy. The return on investment from membership is significant, and there are further substantial savings ready to be harvested.

The APCC is both an Intelligence Centre for its Members, and an overall leader in Advancing Procurement. We source information for our Members that crosses internal and external boundaries. This information is not available through any other mechanism.

APCC membership helps your staff deliver the greatest possible value for your organisation, stakeholders and clients.

What WE DO

The APCC exists to deliver quality engagement and resources. No other organisation brings together different levels of government for the common goal of effective procurement and construction with achievements spanning more than 50 years. Our focus on collaboration and leadership is key to this success.
